How to Make Money on TikTok Videos: 10 Ways to Turn Views into Income

Updated at November 2, 2026

Short Answer: A TikTok account can become a source of income when you combine consistent content with brand partnerships, affiliate offers, creator monetization programs, or your own products.

TikTok videos can do much more than generate likes, comments, and followers. With the right strategy, creators can use short-form content to build an audience and explore different ways of generating income. If you've been searching for how to make money on TikTok videos, there are several legitimate methods worth considering.

Some creators earn through TikTok's own monetization programs, while others make money through brand partnerships, affiliate marketing, products, services, and businesses built around their content.

You don't necessarily need every video to go viral. A focused audience and content that consistently provides value can create opportunities over time.

In this guide, we'll cover 10 ways to make money on TikTok videos, how monetization works, and how beginners can start building a TikTok income strategy.

1. Join the TikTok Creator Rewards Program

The Creator Rewards Program is one of the official ways eligible creators can potentially earn money from their TikTok content.

The program is available only in certain markets and has specific eligibility requirements. TikTok can also update its requirements and monetization rules.

Many users still search for the TikTok Creator Fund, but the Creator Rewards Program is the newer program in markets where it is available.

How to check your eligibility

Open your TikTok creator tools or TikTok Studio and look for the monetization section.

If the program is available to your account:

1. Review the current eligibility requirements.
2. Apply through TikTok.
3. Continue creating original content.
4. Follow TikTok's Community Guidelines.
5. Monitor qualified views and available rewards.

Remember that total video views and qualified views are not necessarily the same thing.

2. Create Videos for Brand Sponsorships

Sponsored content is one of the most common ways creators turn an audience into income.

Brands can pay creators to introduce products or services through TikTok videos.

For example:

* A gaming creator can showcase gaming accessories.
* A technology creator can review a gadget.
* A fitness creator can demonstrate workout equipment.
* A beauty creator can feature skincare products.
* A food creator can work with food and kitchen brands.

You don't always need a huge following.

A creator with a smaller but highly relevant audience may be useful to a brand because the audience is already interested in the relevant topic.

What can influence a sponsorship?

Brands may consider:

* Followers
* Engagement
* Average views
* Audience demographics
* Niche
* Content quality
* Location
* Campaign requirements

Always disclose sponsored relationships appropriately and follow applicable advertising requirements.

3. Make Money With Affiliate Marketing

Affiliate marketing is another way to monetize TikTok videos.

The process is straightforward:

Create useful content → recommend a relevant product → interested viewers click through → qualifying purchase → commission

For example, a tech creator could make a video titled:

"5 useful accessories for a new laptop."

The video can explain what each product does and who might benefit from it.

Affiliate marketing can work particularly well for content categories involving product recommendations.

Possible niches include:

* Technology
* Gaming
* Beauty
* Fitness
* Home products
* Fashion
* Travel
* Food
* Education

The most important thing is to promote products that actually make sense for your audience.

4. Sell Your Own Products

TikTok can also be used to promote products that you create or sell.

Products could include:

* Clothing
* Accessories
* Artwork
* Handmade items
* Digital downloads
* Templates
* Guides
* Ebooks
* Courses

For example, a creator who makes art tutorials could sell digital drawing resources.

A productivity creator could sell planning templates.

A cooking creator could sell a digital recipe collection.

Your videos should demonstrate the value of the product instead of turning every post into a sales advertisement.

5. Sell Digital Products

Digital products are another option because they can be created once and sold online without physical inventory.

Examples include:

* Templates
* Checklists
* Ebooks
* Study notes
* Design resources
* Presets
* Educational guides
* Printable materials

Suppose you create TikTok videos about personal organization.

You could share short productivity tips and then offer a downloadable planning template for viewers who want additional resources.

This creates a connection between your content and your product.

6. Use TikTok Videos to Find Freelance Clients

You can make money from TikTok without TikTok directly paying you.

If you have a professional skill, use your videos to demonstrate it.

Potential services include:

* Web design
* SEO
* Writing
* Graphic design
* Video editing
* Photography
* Programming
* Tutoring
* Social media management
* Consulting

For example, a web designer could create a short video showing how they improved a website homepage.

A video editor could show a raw clip and the finished result.

A writer could explain how they improve an article introduction.

Potential clients can discover your work through these videos.

7. Monetize TikTok LIVE

TikTok LIVE provides eligible creators with additional opportunities to interact with their audience.

Depending on the account and region, eligible viewers may be able to send virtual gifts during LIVE sessions.

Creators can use LIVE for:

* Gaming
* Q&A
* Tutorials
* Interviews
* Music
* Discussions
* Demonstrations
* Educational sessions

The more interactive the experience, the more reason viewers have to stay.

Before starting a LIVE session, prepare a topic and several questions or discussion points.

8. Create UGC Videos for Businesses

User-generated-content style videos are increasingly useful to brands.

You can create short videos that a business can use to promote its product or service.

You may not need a massive personal following because the business may be hiring you for your ability to create effective video content.

Examples include:

* Product demonstrations
* Unboxing videos
* Tutorials
* Testimonials
* Lifestyle content
* Short promotional videos

This can be an option for people who enjoy creating videos but don't want to depend entirely on influencer marketing.

9. Send TikTok Viewers to Your Website

Another answer to how to make money on TikTok videos is to use TikTok as a source of website traffic.

Your website could generate revenue through:

* Products
* Services
* Advertising
* Subscriptions
* Affiliate marketing
* Courses
* Memberships

For example, a cooking website can publish short recipe videos on TikTok and direct interested viewers toward the full recipe.

A technology website can create quick app tutorials and provide a longer guide on the website.

TikTok becomes the discovery channel while the website becomes the destination.

10. Repurpose Your Videos

Creating short-form videos takes time, so consider adapting your original content for other platforms.

One original video can potentially be adapted for:

* TikTok
* YouTube Shorts
* Instagram Reels
* Facebook Reels

This gives your content more opportunities to reach new audiences.

However, make sure the content is yours or that you have the necessary rights to use it.

How Do You Make Money on TikTok Videos?

There are two main categories of TikTok monetization.

Direct income

This includes eligible TikTok programs and features that can provide creators with rewards.

Indirect income

This includes:

* Brand sponsorships
* Affiliate marketing
* Product sales
* Services
* UGC
* Website traffic
* Business leads

Indirect income can be particularly valuable because you are not depending entirely on TikTok paying you for views.

Can You Make Money on TikTok With a Small Audience?

Yes, depending on the monetization method.

A small but targeted audience can still be useful for:

* Affiliate marketing
* Services
* Digital products
* Sponsorships
* UGC
* Product sales

For example, imagine you have 5,000 followers who are specifically interested in video editing.

A video-editing software affiliate offer may be highly relevant to that audience.

Meanwhile, a general entertainment account with many more followers may not have the same level of purchase intent.

Audience relevance matters.

How to Get Monetized on TikTok

If you're wondering how to get monetized on TikTok, begin by checking your TikTok Studio or creator tools.

Available programs depend on your location and account.

A general process is:

1. Build a TikTok account around a clear topic.
2. Publish original videos.
3. Follow TikTok's policies.
4. Build genuine engagement.

5. Check your available monetization options.
6. Review the current requirements.
7. Apply when eligible.
8. Continue monitoring your creator dashboard.

Don't assume that meeting a particular follower number guarantees monetization. Each program can have its own requirements.

TikTok Creator Fund and Creator Rewards Program

The term TikTok Creator Fund is still frequently used when people search for information about getting paid for TikTok videos.

TikTok has introduced the Creator Rewards Program in markets where it is available.

If you're researching the Creator Fund, check which current program appears in your own creator tools.

Program availability and requirements can vary by country.

Creator Rewards Program in the Philippines

Creators in the Philippines searching for the Creator Rewards Program in the Philippines should check the current monetization options available through their TikTok account.

TikTok programs can have different availability and requirements depending on location.

Before planning your expected income around the program, verify the latest requirements directly through TikTok.

How Many Views Do You Need to Make Money on TikTok?

There is no universal number of views that guarantees earnings.

Different monetization methods have different requirements.

For example, a creator program may use qualified views, while affiliate marketing depends on clicks and purchases.

Brand sponsorships can depend on audience size, engagement, niche, and campaign requirements.

Therefore, a video getting 100,000 views does not necessarily produce the same income as another video with 100,000 views.

How Much Money Can TikTok Videos Make?

The amount can vary substantially.

Income source | What influences earnings

Creator program | Qualified views and program rules
Brand sponsorship | Audience, niche, campaign
Affiliate marketing | Clicks, conversions, commission
Products | Sales and profit
Services | Number of clients and pricing
UGC | Client agreements
LIVE | Available features and audience participation

There is no fixed amount that applies to every creator.

How to Create TikTok Videos That Can Be Monetized

Start by thinking about what your audience needs.

Solve a problem

Show people how to do something faster or better.

Answer common questions

Turn frequently asked questions into short videos.

Demonstrate products

Show the product in a real-world situation.

Compare options

Help viewers understand the differences between two choices.

Share useful tips

Give viewers information they can immediately use.

Tell stories

Interesting experiences can create stronger audience connections.

Good content gives viewers a reason to watch even when you are not directly promoting anything.

Tips for Making Money on TikTok

Pick a niche

A clear niche makes it easier to understand your audience.

Be consistent

Regular content gives you more opportunities to discover what works.

Focus on retention

Get to the useful part quickly.

Study your analytics

Look at watch time, engagement, shares, comments, and profile visits.

Build trust

Don't promote products you don't believe are relevant to your audience.

Diversify

Once you have an audience, explore more than one monetization method.

Mistakes to Avoid

If you're trying to make money on TikTok, avoid shortcuts that can damage your account or audience.

These include:

* Buying followers
* Buying views
* Using stolen videos
* Reposting copyrighted material without permission
* Making false income claims
* Spamming affiliate links
* Promoting unrelated products
* Ignoring sponsorship disclosures
* Violating TikTok's rules

Long-term monetization is easier to build around a genuine audience.
